GREYMOOR FARM

Greymoor Farm in Elko, Minnesota, owned by Donna Hentges, boasts a small but internationally successful breeding program. The foundation of the program is First Cyte, a multi-national champion stallion who produced both national and international champions, and three carefully selected broodmares who all produced national champions. Foals from those crosses won an amazing 41 national top tens and 16 national championships in halter. First Cyte daughters are now the farm's second-generation broodmares and bred to outside stallions, they have carried on the legacy of producing national champions.

Donna's breeding program, which represents over two decades of research, took a new and exciting turn with the birth of CM Targaryen (Kanz Albidayer x Drama Qyeen) in 2016. His parents are both multi-national champions and there are 25 national winners or producers of national winners in the first four generations of his pedigree. The mares in Targaryen's dam line have produced national winners for four generations. Already proving himself in the showing, his first foals will be born in 2019.

Greymoor generally breeds only one foal a year. Not only is Donna a very successful breeder, but she has had great success in marketing her horses as well, both in the United States and abroad. The highest compliment to any program comes from other breeders. Donna's most recent foals have been exported to international breeders who have enjoyed success with them in the showing and in their breeding programs. Greymoor Farm proves that small breeders truly can have an international influence.
